

Reading as Communication: Selecting books

November 12, 2015

Elin Sheldon, M. Ed.
Dr. Caroline MusseWRITE, CCC-SLP

angelman syndrome foundation | COMMUNICATION TRAINING SERIES

4

Instructional framework

(review from October 15 webinar)

- To or For: What will I do
Provide a model for the person to become aware of and observe without any expectation of participation or performance
- With: What will WE do
Scaffold the person to imitate, explore, and participate, with your support and encouragement
- Alone: What will YOU do
Use the skill for functional, personally meaningful purposes

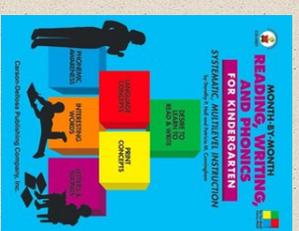

4

Today's Webinar

- * Explore how shared and independent reading supports language development for our students with Angelman syndrome
- * Increase awareness of available books
- * Extend modelling of the Core Four to shared reading

Building Blocks

Dorothy Hall & Elaine Williams, based on Patricia Cunningham's Four Blocks

5

Today's webinar in the 5 STEPS

Targets
Teaching	Shared and self-selected, independent reading
Tools	Commercially produced books Homemade books Free downloadable books i!Pad apps: Keynote
Testing
Team

Reading

- To or For:
Provide a model of reading personally meaningful text and personalized books in many different ways: read the words, retell the story, talk about the pictures
- With:
Encourage participation by reading familiar books with repeated lines, supporting the child to predict, and read those lines, use think-alouds to show how the pictures and sounds of rhyme help us predict the words, encourage child to read with her inner voice.
Emphasize how we can manipulate sounds in language.
- Alone:
Provide access to many accessible books in a range of genre and formats, provide instruction in letter names and sounds, important-to-me sight words, and spelling patterns (phonics), develop reading comprehension by reading and listening for a specific purpose

6

Shared reading: TO

- * Language exploration is fun!
- * Books + me = interaction
- * People read books by turning pages and looking at the pages.
- * Books are interesting and fun
- * Reading is important.

Shared reading: WITH

- * The words on the page are what we read aloud.
- * I can read to myself. I am important when I read.
- * If I look at the pictures, I can guess some of the sentence.
- * If I listen to the words, I can predict some of the sentence.
- * I can hear the words in my head.
- * I can read!

Shared reading: ALONE

- * I am a reader: I can read words.
- * "I know that word!": I can learn words.
- * The words in my books are also in my AAC.
- * Letters make words. Words make sentences.
- * I can make words and sentences.
- * Reading is fun!

Core words as sight words

DLM's™ "First 40"

1.	I	like	not	want
2.	help	it	more	different
3.	who	she	you	he
4.	where	up	on	in
5.	me	make	get	look
6.	what	need	are	is
7.	some	put	all	this
8.	don't	that	go	do
9.	when	finished	can	here
10.	open	turn	stop	over

Center for Literacy &
Oral Storytelling Studies
University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill

Our students need books:

- * About themselves and their world.
- * About what they are interested in learning about.
- * That they can read by themselves, independently.
- * That they can read and share with others.
- * That they can read TO others.
- * That they can read by attending to the words alone.
- * That make them want to read.
- * That make them want to learn to read.

Beginning Literacy Framework

- Enrichment: reading to the student: rich text and graphics, enhances knowledge of the world and builds vocabulary, just beyond student's readability level, builds love of reading
- Transitional: student beginning to read with support: shifts focus to text, less attention to graphics, begin applying reading strategies, scaffolds of rhyme, rhythm, repetition, predictability, repeated lines and high-frequency decodable words
- Conventional: student beginning to read independently: minimize the scaffolds of rhyme, rhythm, repetition, & predictability; minimize the demands of diverse sentence structures

Don Johnston, Karen Erickson, Caroline Mussewhite

The Beginning Literacy Framework Overview of Text Features

Enrichment	Transitional	Conventional
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Language rich text Variety of sentence patterns Complex sentences are acceptable Blends of language structures Language-rich graphics Detailed graphics that can tell the story and go beyond Opportunities for vocabulary expansion Readability of individual words not critical-interest and engagement are critical Some rhyme, rhythm, repetition and/or predictability that creates engagement 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Simple and consistent sentence structures within a single book High degree of rhyme, rhythm, repetition and/or predictability Mix of text that is beyond the student's reading level (for engagement) with text that student can read with support Close picture-to-text match when independent text reading is expected Stories can be as long as Enrichment books if text is interspersed with pages for students to independently read (i.e. pages with 1 or 2 predictable words) 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Simple text Simple sentence structure Minimal use of pronouns to avoid confusion with referents Consistent sentence structures within a given book Heavy repetition of individual words within a given book Heavy use of high frequency and decodable words Length of story is short Minimal cueing with graphics and other scaffolds.

I like earrings
Jane Farrall

- ### Book selection is highly individual
- One student's conventional level text is another student's enrichment level text
 - What interests one student will not interest another
 - Students may need more concept development and more world knowledge before commercial books are engaging
 - Books are an excellent way to develop concept knowledge and world knowledge!

I like earrings.

Books for beginning readers of all ages

Tar Heel Reader

Welcome

Welcome to the Tar Heel Reader, a collection of free, easy-to-read, and accessible books on a wide range of topics for beginning readers. The books are available in both print and digital formats, including touch screens. The titles are available with custom overlays, and 1 to 3 overlays. Click here to learn more about alternative access methods.

You may write your own books using pictures from the huge collection at Flickr or pictures you create. You may also use the Tar Heel Reader to create your own books. You may also use the Tar Heel Reader to publish them to the site. While you are working on them, please save them as drafts.

Note the title well icon  in the upper left corner of the page; clicking it will allow you to access the main menu. You can also click the settings icon  to change settings on some pages.

Ready to get started?

Find a book Write a book

This site is also available in other languages. To help with translation, contact us.

ENGLISH

I like short earrings.

I like long earrings.

I like blue earrings.

I like shell earrings.

I like green earrings.

I like heart earrings.

I like flower earrings.

I like bird earrings.

I like turtle earrings.

I really like earrings.

I like orange earrings.

I like fish earrings.

I like purple earrings.

I really, really like earrings.

I like fruit earrings.

I like round earrings.

I like music earrings.

I like star earrings.

But, I don't like yellow earrings.

Can you change them for me?

For your student,
what level of text was this?

- * Enrichment
- * Transitional
- * Conventional

What did you notice about that book?

How might we adapt the book?

- * Length: add or reduce page length, sentence length
- * Personalization: familiar photos
- * Complexity
- * Develop a narrative

What do we notice about that book?

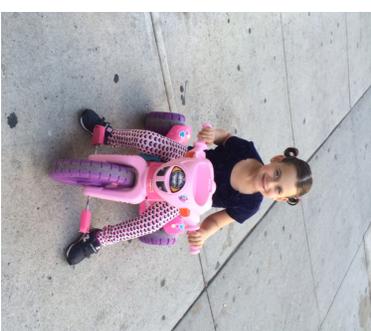

- * Simple repetitive repeated line:
I like ____ earrings
- * High-frequency phrase + describing words + repeated noun
- * Not 100% predictable
- * Concept development around opposites
- * Might appeal to specific students

Things I Like

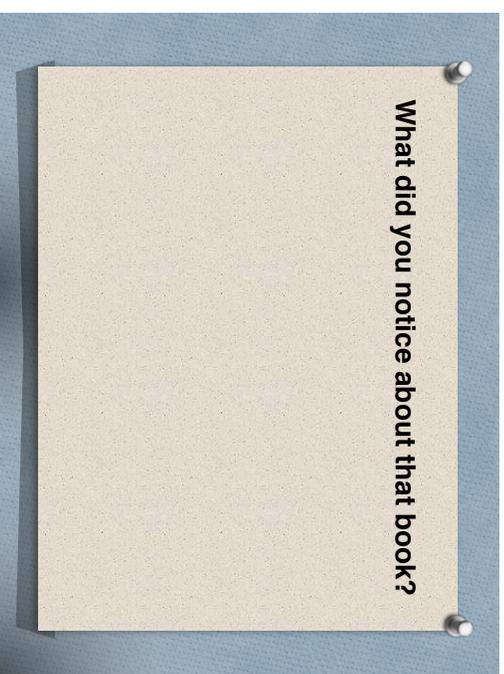

I like to ride in cars outside.

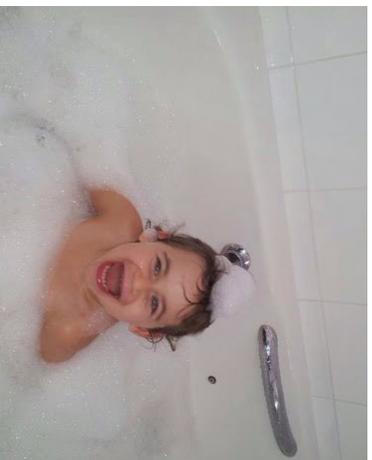

I like to ride my tricycle.

I like to walk around the city.

What did you notice about that book?

I like to take baths.

What do we notice about that book?

- * Repeated sentence stem:
I like to _____
- * Highly personalized
- * Photos provided the context
- * Robust vocabulary
- * Socially interactive:
Did you learn about the student?
Did you connect with her?

Maggie, Maggie, what do you see?

I see Harry looking at me!

For your student,
what level of text was this?

- * Enrichment
- * Transitional
- * Conventional

Penguins can waddle.

A spiral-bound notebook page with a black border. At the top, there is a small illustration of two penguins. Below it, the text "Penguins can" is written in a simple font. To the right of this text is a box containing a drawing of a single penguin waddling. Below the box, the word "waddle." is written.

Penguins can march.

A spiral-bound notebook page with a black border. At the top, there is a small illustration of two penguins. Below it, the text "Penguins can" is written. To the right is a box containing a drawing of a line of penguins marching in a single file. Below the box, the word "march." is written.

Penguins can swim.

A spiral-bound notebook page with a black border. At the top, there is a small illustration of two penguins. Below it, the text "Penguins can" is written. To the right is a box containing a drawing of two penguins swimming in the water. Below the box, the word "swim." is written.

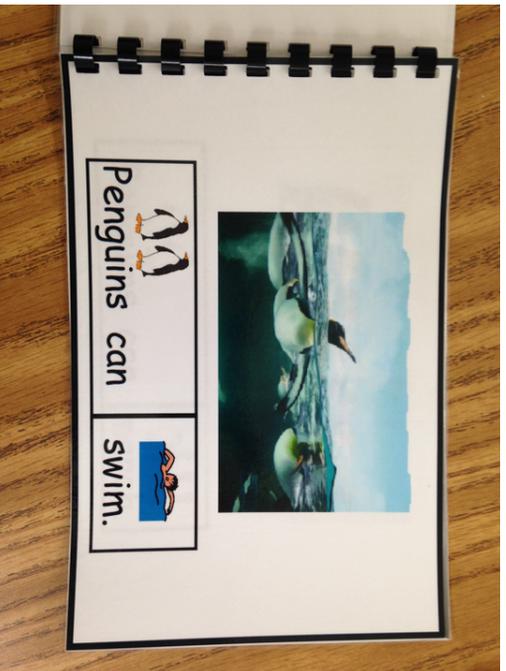

What did you notice about that book?

What do we notice about that book?

- * Simple repetitive repeated line: Penguins can + verb
- * 100% predictable
- * Symbol-supported text: did it actually help?

Symbol-supported text undermines reading strategies

- * The words on the page are what we read aloud.
- * I can read to myself. I am important when I read.
- * If I look at the pictures, I can guess some of the sentence.
- * If I listen to the words, I can predict some of the sentence.

Daddy

Daddy

Ella and Erin

Ella

Ella

What did you notice about that book?

What do we notice about that book?

- * No story structure or information: not enrichment
- * No repeated lines, some pages had no pictures: not transitional
- * Visual emphasis on initial letter
- * All names: great sight words!
- * Highly personalized, high-contrast
- * We can talk about the pages or just read the words

Ella and Erin

Phonemic Phun!! Rhyming

Dr. Caroline Ramsey Musselwhite

<http://aacgirls.blogspot.com/>

And she knew it.

We Blew It
Reed A. Booke

Model by retelling using core words

This one is obvious - 'HE blew IT'

Caution: Do NOT 'read' the story using the talker. Reading should be about looking at the TEXT. Then talk about it after you read.

Uh oh, he blew it.

Caution: Do NOT demand voice

Uh oh, he blew it.

Explore categories: 'Look at that BOY!
Do NOT go crazy - don't look for very fringy words such as 'dishwasher' or 'detergent'!!

So how do we USE this?

Uh oh, he blew it.

So how do we USE this?

Reflect what your student is showing you.

Student is smiling and leaning forward. You say: 'YOU LIKE this!'

Uh oh, he blew it.

He likes to swing.

He Likes She Likes
Caroline Musselwhite

He likes cats.

She likes to sing.

She likes rats.

So how do we USE this?

Model through retelling

Describe: 'SHE looks HAPPY'

Reflect student nonverbal cues
'I think YOU do NOT like rats!'

She likes rats.

Expand: Student: LIKE

Parent: 'Right! YOU LIKE rats!'

So how do we USE this?

Model through retelling: 'SHE GO UP!'

Describe: 'SHE is PRETTY (or ORANGE or COOL)'

Reflect: student strokes fox
'Are you telling me SHE is nice?'

Expand: Student: SHE

Parent: 'Right! SHE is PRETTY!'

She likes to pounce.

He likes to bounce.

She likes to sun.

She likes to pounce.

He likes to run.

Your Turn: How do we USE this

Model through retelling:

‘ _____ ,

Describe: ‘ _____ ,

Reflect: student nods head:

‘I think you’re saying _____ ,

He likes to run.

You!

Expand: Student: LIKE _____ ,
Parent: ‘ _____ ,

Who Did It?

Caroline Musselwhite

Who ate this?

Who did this?

You!

So how do we USE this?

Explore new words: 'CAKE!' 'YUM!'

Model through retelling: 'WHO do YOU think ate it?'

Who ate this?

Describe: 'IT looks good!'

Reflect: student grins

'Are you telling me YOU LIKE cake?'

Expand: Student: LIKE

Your Turn: How do we USE this

Model through retelling:

Describe: '_____'

Reflect: student laughs:

'I think you're saying _____'

Expand: Student: WHO

Parent: '_____'

Who did this?

Who did this?

Possible Next Steps

- * Download and print a book!
- * Search Tar Heel Reader
- * Evaluate your student's library in terms of the level of text and level of engagement
- * Share your experiences in the Facebook group!

You!

Questions?

Thank You!
The ASF Communication Training Series is made available by the Angelman Syndrome Foundation and a generous grant from The Foster Family Charitable Foundation, a family foundation established in Central California.

angelman syndrome foundation | COMMUNICATION TRAINING SERIES

angelman
SYNDROME FOUNDATION

angelman syndrome foundation

COMMUNICATION TRAINING SERIES